This month's topic:

HOW TO REMEMBER STUFF (AND ORGANIZE IT TOO)

An exploration of how to use the Notes app for Mac and iOS to improve memory and organization to be presented by Roger Owens

Which Cajun restaurant did we love? What remains to be completed for the May project? Where shall we go in Florida? Everyone has his or her own memory strategies and organizational techniques, yet however personalized and sophisticated they may be, they would be hard-pressed to beat the 21st-century solution already installed on your Mac, iPhone, iPad or iPod touch. On Tuesday, Roger will show numerous examples of how to use Notes to remember and organize, and demonstrate many of the app's capabilities, such as bulleted, numbered and to-do lists, checklists, sorting notes, adding content to notes via drag and drop from other apps, adding file attachments such as photos and maps, creating tables for organizing information, saving notes to folders, syncing notes between your devices, and more. If you wish you were better at remembering, sorting through details, and just plain keeping straight the many details of your life, then please join us, as Notes can help with all that, and this will be a meeting worth remembering.

Also,

BACK TO MAC BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs. This month:

JPEG, GIF, PNG, TIFF, OR WHAT? HOW TO DECIDE WHICH GRAPHICS FORMAT TO USE to be presented by Rob Ellis

There are more than enough image formats in the world of computers and mobile devices to make your head spin, including many you most likely have never encountered. But even after whittling the list down to the most common formats, which one should you use? Well, that depends on why and where you need to use it. On Tuesday, Rob will dispel the mysteries by demonstrating several image formats, and explaining exactly when and where each format will be your perfect choice.
