This month's topic:

PERSONALIZED HOLIDAY GIFTS

How to use the Shutterfly website to create beautiful photo gifts such as calendars, photo books, coffee mugs, and much more to be presented by Rob Ellis

Some of the most appreciated gifts are those custom-made for the recipient, but wait, might that require a lot of time and talent? Not necessarily, and in the case of Shutterfly, definitely not. Just in time for Christmas and other holidays soon to arrive, on Tuesday, Rob will show how to easily create a sleighful of stunning, personalized presents via the Shutterfly website. What sorts of presents? Cards, photo books, calendars, stationery, blankets, hoodies, travel mugs, aprons, magnets, notepads, rubber stamps, iPhone cases, night lights, and yes, even pillows. We will look at how to upload photos including how to transfer them directly from Apple Photos, how to choose from the dizzying array of gift choices, how to use the website or iOS app to design the gifts, how to add text and decorations, how to preview your creations, how to order them, and in a nutshell, how to make truly personal presents that are bound to be more appreciated than fruitcake. Come learn to make gifts ever jolly and bright; merry meeting to all, and to all a good night.

Also,

BACK TO BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs and iOS devices. This month:

HOW TO WIN THE RESOLUTIONARY WAR

i.e., how to keep the one New Year's resolution you nearly always break to be presented by Al Risaliti

One of the most frequently-made New Year's resolutions is to lose weight, and one of the most frequently-failed New Year's resolutions is to lose weight. But there are solutions, and on Tuesday, Al will explain some weight loss strategies he has come up with that actually work, using a combination of software such as walk counters and calorie counters, a couple pieces of hardware including the Apple Watch, and more. We will also consider how big or small of a goal to set, and how to not set yourself up for failure. If losing weight is a resolution you're likely to make, and likely to break, come join us on Tuesday for some help.
