This month's topic:

iPHOTO FOR MAC

How to use iPhoto to organize, edit, export and beautify your photos to be presented by Roger Owens

Mathew Brady, Ansel Adams, Edward Weston, Diane Arbus, Richard Avedon, Henri Cartier-Bresson and Annie Leibovitz did not have iPhoto, but you do. Not every photographable scene makes it through your camera lens in a state of finished perfection. Overly bright or dark exposures, flash-induced red-eye and accidentally tilted cameras are but a few of the causes of flawed photos. There are many apps for Macintosh designed to help correct photos, but one of them is already on your Mac. With iPhoto you can straighten photos, adjust exposures and eliminate red-eye, and that is only the tip of the picture-perfect iceberg. On Tuesday, Roger will show how to do all that, plus how to use iPhoto to organize your many photos, make slideshows from them and export them as movies, and even create a beautiful, printed book of photos for your coffee table. With iPhoto, you may be able to pull off what you may have hoped to accomplish in the first place: the perfect shot.

Also,

BACK TO MAC BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs. This month:

OS X'S LAUNCHPAD AND MISSION CONTROL
to be presented by Tom Davis

If you wish you had an easy visual overview of what apps are running on your Mac, including all their open windows, and an easy visual way to see and to start up all your installed apps, then we have good news; you already have these features. On Tuesday, Tom will focus on how to use Launchpad and Mission Control in OS X.
