This month's topic:

GENEALOGY ON YOUR MAC

How to trace your own family history, using software for Macintosh. Plus, a demonstration of an extraordinary piece of hardware that is perfect for genealogy, photography and other pursuits to be presented by Annette Davis

Genealogy, the tracing of family trees, is a fascinating study unto itself. But the Macintosh and OS X bring genealogy into the 21st Century. With genealogy software and a Mac, anyone can document family trees, actually have fun doing it, and create gorgeous charts that would be difficult to produce otherwise. On Tuesday, Annette will demonstrate a genealogy app named Reunion, and guide us on a tour through the Ancestry website. Plus, we will take a close look, literally, at a digital USB microscope, which serves a full range from magnifying glass to microscope to 5 megapixel macro camera, with the images appearing live on your Mac's screen—a brilliant way to focus on your past. With these goodies and some help from us, you can go back to the future with no need for a Delorean or a Flux Capacitor; the only thing missing will be the trails of flame.

Also,

BACK TO MAC BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs. This month:

LOCKING FOLDERS FOR USE AS EASY TEMPLATES

to be presented by Rob Ellis

Would it be helpful if there were a way to easily reuse a folder's contents for a new project or folder? On Tuesday, Rob will demonstrate a simple technique that pulls off that little trick in less than two seconds.

Also,
