This month's topic:

OUR FAVORITE iPhone APPS

Some of our personal picks among the many apps available for iPhone to be presented by Annette Davis, Roger Owens, Al Risaliti, and Rob Ellis

On January 9th, 2007 at the Macworld Expo keynote, when Steve Jobs announced, "Today, Apple is going to reinvent the phone," that claim may have seemed a bit of an overstatement. Yet here we are, in 2015, with sophisticated computers in our pockets and purses, and whatever the brand, all are modeled after that original iPhone. With roughly 1.4 million apps now available for the iPhone, there are bound to be some pleasant surprises awaiting you in the App Store. On Tuesday, we will show off some of our favorites, many of which are free. If you want a better Twitter experience, or need to know the weather in detail, or to recognize music on the fly, or check your calendar, make sure your new bookshelf is level, tweak your photos, protect your digital privacy, save articles and videos for later perusal, translate languages effortlessly, find the nearest chocolatier or even find your phone, if you will forgive our quoting a trademarked phrase, there's an app for that. And our meeting will showcase some of the best. Please join us, as you and your iPhone might like what you see.

Also,

FREE RAFFLE!

We will be raffling a $10.00 iTunes card, generously donated by Annette Davis. This raffle is FREE to everyone attending the meeting.

So many apps, so little time to find the perfect ones. If only an Apple users group would do a meeting devoted to this... Please join us on Tuesday, as one of our presented apps might turn out to be the app of your dreams. And please feel free to bring a friend. See you there!
